Meet Genex

Genex is an AI-powered app that helps parents support their child's development through simple, personalized daily activities at home.

What you get:

- Personalized 5–10 minute activities tailored to your child's needs
- Simple activities to help your child grow one step at a time
- Clear, trusted information — not generic advice
- Expert-informed guidance across genetics, speech, and development
- Access to experts and a supportive parent community
- Privacy-first by design — your data is never sold or shared

Important note:

Genex is not a diagnostic tool and does not replace medical care or therapy.

No medical background needed — just simple, practical guidance for everyday life.

Built by San Francisco parents, guided by experts in genetics and child development.
